the many moods of college

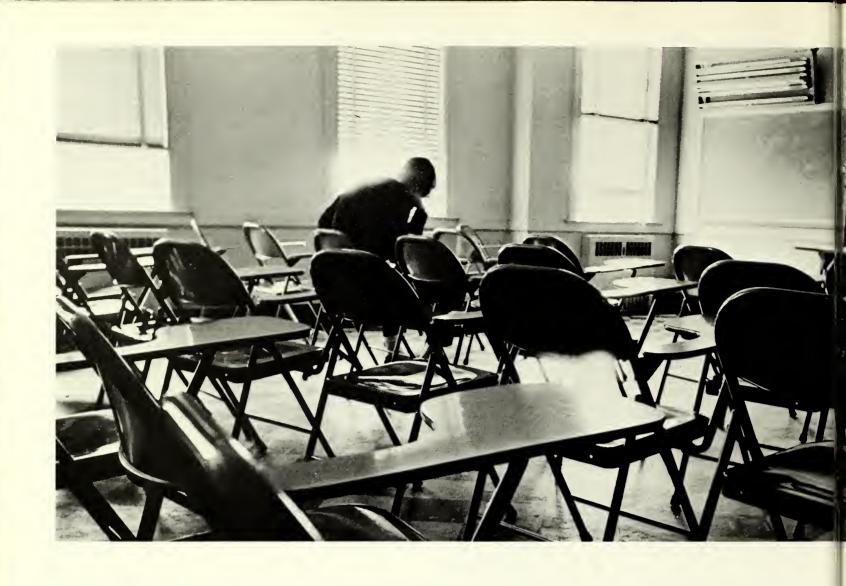

... quick bright things come to confusion.

WILLIAM SHAKESPEARE

A strong will, a settled purpose, and invincible determination can accomplish almost anything.

FULLER

On with the dance! let joy be unconfined;
No sleep till morn, when Youth and Pleasure meet
To chase the glowing hours with flying feet
LORD BYRON

There is a mystery in human hearts, And though we be encircled by a host Of those who love us well and are beloved, To every one of us, from time to time, There comes a sense of utter loneliness.

Author Unknown

Whatever crushes individuality is despotism, by whatever name it may be called.

John S. Mill

Don't you understand, Albert? I AM TENSE!
FROM BYE BYE BIRDIE

Strange, when you come to think of it, that of all the countless folk who have lived before our time on this planet not one is known in history or in legend as having died of laughter.

Мах Веегвонм

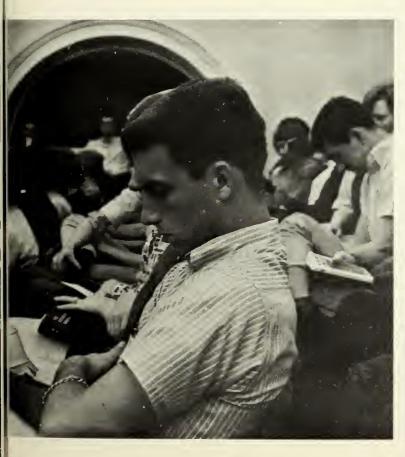

Is not life a hundred times too short for us to bore ourselves?

Nietzsche

Courtship consists in a number of quiet attentions not so pointed as to alarm, nor so vague as not to be understood.

Sterne

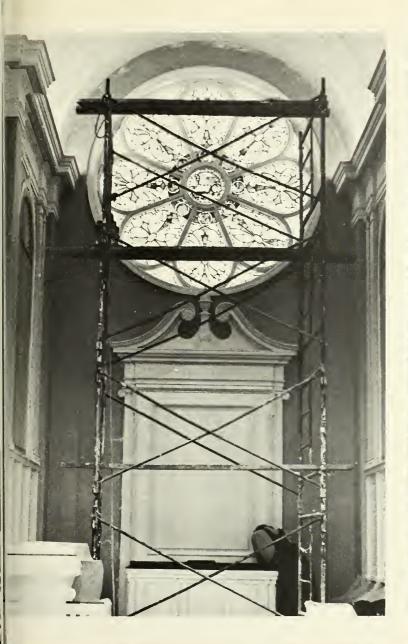

Progress, man's distinctive mark alone.

Robert Browning

Spring is the World! And all things are made new.

RICHARD HOVEY

We are shaped and fashioned by what we love.

Goethe

Though nothing can bring back the hour

Of splender in the grass, or glory in the flower;

We will grieve not, rather find Strength is what remains behind.

A professor can never better distinguish himself in his work than by encouraging a clever pupil, for the true discoverers are among them, as comets among the stars.

No one can escape the theatre, whether he be actively engaged in it or not, for in its multitude of forms it touches every human life, directly or indirectly. Oftentimes it serves simply to entertain us; at other times it may also enlighten and enrich our understanding of the human heart. In its highest form it brings us every now and then that rare and precious gift of exaltation. It is the oldest and most universal of our arts.

INDUSTRIES ARE CITIZENS, TOO!

In a free America, industries are citizens, too. And the manner in which industrial citizenship is exercised has a lot to do with maintaining our freedom.

At Callaway Mills, good industrial citizenship practices are as much a part of the day-to-day operation as the endless flow of fabric from our looms. We believe that the practice of good citizenship calls for going "above and beyond" what the law requires. There is no law, for example, that makes us maintain such facilities as Coleman Library, Callaway Auditorium and the Callaway Educational Center Pool for everyone to use and enjoy. These are just some of the things that fall into the "above and beyond" category.

And Callaway, like other industries, is a taxpayer. In fact, our current schedule calls for the preparation of 354 separate tax returns each year! A lot of trouble and a lot of money? You bet! But it's the price we pay for the liberties all American citizens enjoy.

Yearbooks are funny things. To you, the reader, it's one hundred and ninety-two pages of pictures and writing, telling about what happened this year. But to the staff, especially the ones that stuck it out to the end, it's a mass of headaches, long hours, late deadlines, stale cigarettes, and rotten coffee.

A yearbook is a group of experiences . . . to laugh about after the final page is written. Behind the beauty section is Jean Jackson, slightly injured, after she fell through the porch of the old mansion where the pictures were taken. Then there's Ellen Bennett, who sacrificed five hours of French credit for our book, who looked up a few days before the second deadline to ask: "Do we have any class officers?"

A yearbook is dealing with people. Our sincere thanks to Harrell Brooks and his hot rod Thunderbird for coming to our rescue so many times. Thanks to our advisors, Dr. Williams and Mrs. Blodgett. Thanks to the photographers, the girls that drew the layouts, the typists, and The Hilltop News for putting up with the noise.

A yearbook is a most rewarding experience. Here is a chance to put a little of yourself into capturing the events of a year. I'm thankful for the opportunity of recording one year, and I'm sure the rest of the staff is too. I hope that we have given you something to enhance your memories of LaGrange College, for that is the purpose of the Quadrangle.
